2020 Annual Report

LETTER FROM OUR LEADERSHIP

Dear Friends,

I returned from Uganda in early March just as COVID-19 was beginning to surge in New York. Within 2 weeks, we had closed our offices and UWP's Board of Directors and I were talking through worst-case scenarios for the organization. The storm of COVID-19 had arrived and no one knew how long it would last or how best to weather it.

We prepared for hard times but resolved to continue to bring safe water to communities in East Africa as quickly as possible with whatever funding we had. Our staff leaned into the quarantine: We built relationships with Ugandan government officials who were stuck at home and finally ready to take our calls. We completely redesigned our website to improve communication, simplifying how the public can learn about our mission and join us in bringing safe water to Uganda. We found new supporters eager to help others in trying times.

The resulting impact of 2020 was nothing short of confounding. Rather than struggling to survive, we celebrated growth like never before. We hired new staff, expanded our field operations, installed more water projects, built more partnerships, raised more funding, and saw more Ugandan men, women, and children have access to safe water than ever before. How this happened is the best part of the story. . . it happened because of you!

Every dollar you gave, post you shared, email you replied to, prayer you prayed, and encouragement you invested into the Ugandan Water Project this year resulted in miraculous outcomes in the lives of 53,000 people we served in Uganda. We look forward to the year ahead and invite you to continue creating a better future with all of the UWP Tribe.

Give Water. Give Life.

IMPACT REPORT

To our donors, volunteers, and partners, thank you for joining us in our COVID-19 response.

Because of your support, our team was able to execute a thorough assessment of 100+ health facilities' water needs, install clean water projects at 9 Ugandan health facilities, and secure funding for 10 more. These projects are now providing clean water access to more than 19,000 patients each month, including 2,415 new mothers and infants, across the 9 facilities.

UWP TRIBE SPOTLIGHTS

THE RIVER

Josh & Kelly Bacon
Mt. Morris, NY

"I've been a monthly partner of UWP since the beginning because I knew I wanted to invest in the lives of countless people in Uganda. We were so drawn to partner with UWP and how faith and community collide within the organization and mission! We continue to partner with UWP and as a director of a small 501c3 ourselves, look to UWP as a model to shape ourselves after!"

5K RUNNERS

The Brophy Family
Wellsville, NY

"In April 2020, we were eager to participate in something that took our focus off of COVID, and all that we 'couldn't do'! We were thrilled to support this virtual event right in our own town and to get to do it 'together, apart' with our daughter and her husband, who live in Michigan! At a time of uncertainty, and the feeling of wanting to be together with family, it was nice to do what we could to 'feel together' on something and to think about more than ourselves!"

INTERN/VOLUNTEER

Justine Sharda
Roberts Wesleyan College, Class of 2022

"I spent the summer of 2020 trying to pave the way in figuring out cryptocurrency donations as UWP's first Cryptocurrency Marketing Intern. My internship gave me an authentic, real-life experience working for a nonprofit organization, but the most meaningful part was having valuable conversations with staff members about doing what you love and having a good-work life balance! This internship has really set me into the right direction in my career."

THANKS FOR LOOKING IN THE REARVIEW MIRROR WITH US

But it's the future that drives the Ugandan Water Project, because water work is always about tomorrow. Here's just a glimpse into what we're looking forward to in 2021.

- Securing new sources of funding for our charitable initiatives so we can help more people than ever before
- Collaborating with Uganda's Ministry of Water & Environment to provide a robust, nation-wide response to the water crisis
- Launching market-based solutions that sustainably pick up where charity solutions hand off
- Cultivating greater partnership with great organizations because we're all faster and better when we work together
